PROGRAMME

ESPGHAN ALLIED HEALTH PROFESSIONALS SUMMER SCHOOL

EN, PN and Basic Science

Allied health professionals include dietitians, nurses, speech and language therapists, occupational therapists and psychologists.

These professionals are all included in treatment of children with various gastrointestinal and liver diseases, and their knowledge needs to be up to date.

The best way to be informed is to be involved in national and international societies, to be present at relevant educational meetings and also to participate in intensive courses and schools where relevant topics can be presented and discussed.

The ESPGHAN AHP Committee Summer School is designed to:

- offer a multi-disciplinary approach to the management of relevant paediatric gastroenterological, hepatological and nutritional conditions, provide knowledge and practical training in an interactive environment
- offer unique opportunities to learn from and interact with an expert faculty from various European centres, as well as from participants from around the world with an interest in these clinical areas
- give delegates the opportunity to present their work and/or research and receive feedback from Faculty

Dates and times

The AHP Summer School will commence at 16:00 on Thursday, September 13, 2018, and will end with lunch on Sunday, September 16, 2018 (14:00).

Target Audience

The School is aimed at dietitians, nurses and other AHP involved in pediatric gastroenterology, hepatology and nutrition. No specific background is requested.
