This meeting aims to promote research, share "state of the art" information on a wide range of Gastrointestinal, Liver and Nutrition topics, and to share innovative methods of working. The meeting provides a forum for a range of medical and allied healthcare professionals to share expertise and research findings, including interactive live oral sessions and pre-prepared poster presentations, via an online platform.

We encourage colleagues across the country to join the meeting. WE hope it is an interactive meeting and disseminates knowledge and experience to facilitate more effective outcomes for our patients.

Welcome Message

We have the pleasure of inviting you to the Bspghan Annual Meeting in 2021. This meeting is designed to offer a unique opportunity to get together for shared learning and to celebrate the friendships, talents and achievements of our Society.

This meeting is different, not only as its virtual this year, but the meeting content has been largely built by our members. The BSPGHAN team has built a great programme which offers a unique showcase for our broad and diverse interests, activities, achievements and future goals of our working groups and speciality areas. We hope that you will be inspired by the research, clinical updates and networking opportunities on offer from members across the UK.

Do review the programme here for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday April 27th, 28th and 29th 2021. Link here.

Please note that due to the keen interest in the high quality sessions on Tuesday, all sessions are no longer parallel to give opportunities to see them live.

Also note that the BSPGHAN AGM took place on 27th January 5pm -6pm.

We look forward to a shared face to face experience in January 2022 . Better times are expected in a few months, and we will make plans for our face to face meeting in Birmingham.

It has been such a challenging time for over a year now and the difficulties continue. The heart of BSPGHAN is made up of all our members sharing a common goal and mutually supporting each other. We are stronger and more resilient together and caring about and supporting each other professionally and as friends. This has always been our philosophy. It is important to focus on that aim and embrace the lessons of the last year. Cherish those who support you at home and at work.

There are no strangers here; Only friends you haven't yet met".
William Butler Yeats

We very much hope that you will enjoy and engage fully with the scientific, educational and networking aspects of the programme.

We are aiming for an interactive and enjoyable event. All Members, especially Associates, Trainees and PEGHAN members, please be inspired to put yourself forward to join a group to contribute to activities. Vacancies are advertised regularly. You'll make new acquaintances and keeping some meetings as virtual, will allow members to participate who may have found it difficult to spare the travelling time.

Remember that the BSPGHAN Education series is still running so please check out the website for these opportunities.

We look forward to seeing you soon.

dr Ronald Bremner and Dr Sue Protheroe.
